

RA Deputy Minister of Sport and Youth Affairs Arsen Karamyan's congratulatory speech on the occasion of the World Youth Day

Dear young people,

It is already 70 year that November 10 is being celebrated as the World Youth Day by its conceit uniting humanity's most ardent and innovative sector.

I must gladly note that the youth of our country actively and effectively participate in all important processes of social, political, economic and cultural life, and greatly ensuring defense and security of our country.

Armenian young people are also active in the international arena, bringing investment to progressive humanity for creating a better world in international youth programs.

Congratulating on the occasion of World Youth Day, I assure that RA youth state policy is aimed at creating favorable conditions for solving your problems, self assertion, formation and development.

I wish you strength, vigor and enthusiasm, for finding your place in quick changing modern world and implementing your best initiatives.
